

Ward Is Near Death After Surgery

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Stephen Ward was placed in an iron lung with bronchial pneumonia and was reported near death tonight.

Convicted on two vice charges growing out of Britain's sex and security scandal, the society osteopath was in a deep coma from an overdose of drugs taken on the last day of his trial Wednesday.

The pneumonia developed after throat surgery this morning to ease his breathing.

Ward was unaware that a jury in the Old Bailey Court had convicted him on two counts of living off prostitution.

Ward, 50, was being drip-fed through a vein with a nutrient solution containing a heart stimulant.

W. Mayne Butcher, a hospital official, said surgeons performed a tracheotomy, which consists of making an opening into the windpipe.

Ward, 50, an artist and osteopath with friends in high places, was taken to the hospital Wednesday after swallowing a massive dose of a barbiturate.

A few hours earlier he had told friends he believed his trial was an act of political revenge for his triggering the Profumo scandal.

John D. Profumo, 48, resigned from the House of Commons and as secretary of state for war in June after admitting an affair with Ward's protegee, prostitute Christine Keeler, 21. Ward had written Home Secretary Henry Brooke and the newspapers that Profumo had lied when he denied the affair earlier.

"Somebody had to be sacrificed and that someone was me," Ward said.

As he lay unconscious with police at his bedside, a jury in the Old Bailey Court found him guilty on two counts of living off the prostitution of Christine and Marilyn (Mandy) Rice-Davies, 18. His attorneys said they would appeal.

Ward was acquitted on one charge of living off the prostitution of Vicky Barrett and two of procuring under-age girls.

State Senator Hurst Goes on Trial

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—State Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst, one of Arkansas' most controversial figures, goes on trial in U.S. District Court Monday on charges of evading $22,913 in income tax from 1956 through 1959.

The trial may last two weeks. The government reportedly has subpoenaed 150 witnesses and Hurst's attorneys are expected to call many more.

Hurst staunchly maintains he is innocent and says that when the records are presented he will be cleared. Hurst auditor, Harold C. York of Little Rock, released a statement saying Hurst declared $181,500 income for the four years and paid his tax.

York, a key figure in the case, said Wednesday he wouldn't be able to testify. He has been seriously ill and he said he was confined to a wheel chair.

York testified before the federal grand jury that indicted Hurst on April 8, and he appeared at the arraignment at Hot Springs in which Hurst pleaded innocent and posted $10,000 bond.

Since then York has been hospitalized.

Hurst asked U.S. District Judge John E. Miller, who will hear the case, to release the grand jury testimony to York. Miller at first refused, then changed his mind when informed of York's condition.

Miller has allowed 15 days on his court calendar for the trial but court sources don't believe it will last that long. U.S. Dist. Atty. Charles Conway, who will prosecute the case, declined to discuss any facet of it or even to say how many witnesses he has subpoenaed.

Hurst, 44, a lawyer and farmer, has been in and out of the headlines since he entered public life as Garland County Judge in 1947-48. He was elected to the Senate in 1950 and now is chairman of the Joint Legislative Audit Committee.

He is the son of a minister, the Rev. F. L. Hurst, pastor of the First Church of God in Hot Springs. The elder Hurst signed his son's bond.

Hurst is most noted for his advocacy of legalized gambling. He has fought for it in the legislature and announced before the 1963 session that he would push for a legalization bill. Gov. Orval Faubus said he would veto such a bill even if it passed, so Hurst dropped his plans.

Hurst has drawn the ire of several church groups for advocating that Hot Springs' already wide-open casinos be legalized on a local option basis. He says they could be better managed that way and that the state could draw taxes on the millions of dollars that flow through them annually.

Hurst also operates a 300-acre farm near Glenwood, 27 miles southwest of Hot Springs.

He said the indictment was the first notice the government had given him that he owned any income tax. "If I had been presented any kind of a bill, I would have made prompt settlement," he said.

The indictment charges that Hurst:

Reported taxable income of $10.95 and paid $2.95 tax in 1956 when he should have reported $14,189 and paid $4,349.

Reported taxable income of $86.79 and paid $17.36 tax in 1957 when he should have reported $17,900 and paid $6,150.

Reported no taxable income in 1958 when he should have reported $6,299 and paid $1,449.

Reported no taxable income in 1959 when he should have reported $26,402 and paid $10,983.

York's statement said Hurst reported $21,200 in 1956, $33,900 in 1957, $50,300 in 1958 and $76,100 in 1959 and paid the taxes due.

Hurst said his losses on an auto parts store and "extreme farm losses" should be allowed on his 1958 tax.

Seventy-five prospective jurors have been ordered to report for the trial Monday morning. Usual-ly 40 are called on jury panels.

Court sources said the large number was called because many probably would be on vacation.

DELIVERS BROTHER — Torin Tompkins, 10, holds his half-brother, Rene William Nicoll, whom he delivered four days ago in the living room of his home in Long Beach, Calif. When Mrs. Betty Nicoll felt labor pains, she turned to Torin and Kelly, another son, for help. While Kelly went to call a doctor, Torin, with instructions from his mother, delivered the child to the amazement of doctors.

Arkansans Mow Down Opposition

FLORENCE, S.C. (AP)—Ricky Richardson of Fort Smith, Ark., and Mike McCutcheon of Little Rock, Ark., mowed down their first-round opposition Wednesday as the U.S. Golf Association junior tournament got under way.

Richardson roared past Ken Turner of Norristown, Pa., 6 and 5. McCutcheon eliminated Ron Peltas of New Orleans, 4 and 3.

McCutcheon was to play Ed Cheek of Pittsburgh, Pa., in the second round today. Richard was to face Doug Marriott of Chevy Chase, Md.

RFK Willing to Take Some Modifications

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said today he would be willing to accept some modifications in the administration's civil rights program.

Under questioning by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., at a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing, Kennedy said he would have no objection to an amendment eliminating beauty shops, barber shops and swimming pools from coverage under the public accommodations provision.

He also agreed to accept a limited provision for jury trials under a section of the bill that would empower the attorney general to bring injunction suits to prevent racial discrimination in public schools and in places of public accommodations.

In addition, he said it would be "all right with me" if Congress decided to rewrite a provision with respect to payment of attorneys' fees in these cases.

The public accommodations section, a key part of the 7-point bill, would require desegregation of restaurants, hotels, motels, stores and other private establishments catering to the general public if their operations substantially affect interstate commerce.

Hurst said the indictment was the first notice the government had given him that he owned any income tax. "If I had been presented any kind of a bill, I would have made prompt settlement," he said.

The indictment charges that Hurst:

Reported taxable income of $10.95 and paid $2.95 tax in 1956 when he should have reported $14,189 and paid $4,349.

Reported taxable income of $86.79 and paid $17.36 tax in 1957 when he should have reported $17,900 and paid $6,150.

Reported no taxable income in 1958 when he should have reported $6,299 and paid $1,449.

York's statement said Hurst reported $21,200 in 1956, $33,900 in 1957, $50,300 in 1958 and $76,100 in 1959 and paid the taxes due.

Decision on Garland Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Missouri Pacific Railroad asked the Interstate Commerce Commission Wednesday for permission to discontinue passenger trains Nos. 31 and 32 between Alexandria and Lake Charles, La.

It said it cost $1.96 per train mile to operate the trains and they return only 78 cents per mile in revenues.

The trains are the only ones Missouri Pacific operates between Little Rock, Ark., and Lake Charles. The railroad said that if the discontinuance is granted, the trains would continue to operate between Little Rock and Alexandria, but would not go on to Lake Charles.

The North Korean Foreign Ministry accused the State Department of trying to "cover up the criminal nature of U.S. imperialism in South Korea and to justify the long-term occupation of South Korea by the U.S. Army."

"By playing up the nonexistent threat from the North," said a Communist broadcast, "the U.S. imperialists are foolishly trying to camouflage the war provocation plots they are hatching in the South."

North Korea said the Americans are trying to justify "aggressive acts of their own." It said the United States has heightened tension by introducing "atomic weapons and guided missiles and turning South Korea into an atomic base, scrapping and violating the Korea armistice agreement."

American commanders in Korea admit they possess weapons capable of firing nuclear warheads, they normally decline comment on whether nuclear warheads are stored in Korea.

The broadcast made no mention of the ambush killing of two U.S. soldiers just south of the demilitarized zone Monday or the skirmish six miles farther south Tuesday in which another American, a South Korean policeman and four North Koreans died.

The U.N. command said the North Koreans were carrying weapons used in the ambush Monday.

The United States denounced the ambush as a "vicious, unprovoked attack."

U.S. Army patrols aided by spotlights searched the banks of the Imjin River along the demilitarized zone for more Communist infiltrators.

South Korean Defense Minister Kim Sung-eun said Monday's ambush was a futile effort to force the American troops to withdraw from the Korean front.

Reds Accuse U.S. of War Provocation

By ROBERT EUNSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Communists North Korea accused the United States today of "war provocation plots" in this divided peninsula. It ignored the Red suicide squad that slipped into South Korea this week and killed three U.S. soldiers.

The North Korean Foreign Ministry accused the State Department of trying to "cover up the criminal nature of U.S. imperialism in South Korea and to justify the long-term occupation of South Korea by the U.S. Army."

"By playing up the nonexistent threat from the North," said a Communist broadcast, "the U.S. imperialists are foolishly trying to camouflage the war provocation plots they are hatching in the South."

Fender Damage in Accident

Execution Day Set for Texas Couple

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles has set Oct. 28 as the new execution date for Leslie Douglas Askey and Carolyn Lima, who won an indefinite stay of execution four hours before they were to be executed March 29.

The indefinite stay, issued by federal Judge John R. Brown, still is in effect, but Harris County District Atty. Frank Briscoe requested that a new execution date be set because a federal reversal of the last state conviction is being appealed.

The state conviction was reversed in a 2-1 decision by the federal court at New Orleans June 25.

Askey, 24, a female impersonator from Hot Springs, Ark., and Miss Lima, 20, a self-confessed prostitute, were convicted of the torch-slashing of Houston realtor Fred Jones at a sex party in Jones' office.

The Pardons and Parole Board said the new execution date was set so it would not be necessary to return the pair to the sentencing court to set an execution date if the final decision of the federal court were adverse to the two.

The New Orleans Circuit Court notified Briscoe in Houston Wednesday that it had rejected his motion for a rehearing on its reversal.

Briscoe said he now would ask the appeals court to stay the judgment until he can file an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court. He has seven days in which to file a formal application for a stay.

vanced earlier in the day by four Democratic senators as an alternative to the President's proposal.

Wolfe also dampened what hopes remain that the two sides can get together and reach a settlement averting a nationwide strike by calling the differences between them "positive, deep-seated and pervasive."

The senators' plan, introduced as a substitute for the Kennedy bill would require 60 days of bargaining under the eyes of a special congressional watchdog committee.

Wolf said the proposal, first advanced by AFL-CIO President George Meany, "would merely delay the final disposition of the dispute."

He said it is "highly improbable that any agreement can be reached" unless Congress approves the President's proposal to submit the dispute to the Commerce Commission.

Acting Chairman John O. Pastore, D-R.I., said that after the unions are heard this afternoon, committee records will be kept open until Monday for the submission of statements.

Next Thursday, he said, the senators will begin closed sessions to decide what action to take.

Cleopatra Panned by the Critics

LONDON (AP)—Cleopatra, the mammoth film panned on all sides by London critics, embarked today on the long trail to win from the British public part of the $40 million it cost to make.

The box office of the Dominion Theatre reported all seats were sold out for every performance until Aug. 26. Prices ranged from 10 shillings ($1.40) to 30 shillings at seat.

The film opened Wednesday night amid glitter, glamour and spotlights. Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton, the stars were not present, disappointing the throngs who shoved against police lines.

Although the stars of the film didn't attend the opening, Mandy Rice-Davies did.

Mandy is the 18-year-old good-time girl whose testimony helped convict Dr. Stephen Ward in Britain's vice trial.

Mandy stuck her tongue out at photographers and, her blonde hair piled high, put on queenly airs at a midnight dinner party attended by 450. She was escorted by Ivor Spencer, a young man-about-town.

One report said three of the guests got up and left the table when she sat down.

Ward of counseling and procuring the commission of an abortion were not pressed. The court ruled these charges would be held over to September, after the summer recess, when prosecutor Mervyn Griffith-Jones will decide whether to proceed with them.

Sentencing was postponed until Ward can be brought into court. Doctors said that would be at least a week. He could get seven years in prison on each count.

Ward was acquitted on one charge of living off the prostitution of Vicky Barrett and two of procuring underage girls. Prosecutor Mervyn Griffith-Jones said a further indictment would be brought against Ward but gave no details.

Christine spent Wednesday testifying at a secret investigation of the security risks involved in her affair with Profumo, which took place at the same time she was seeing Capt. Eugene Ivanov, an assistant Soviet naval attaché.

Rainmaker Going to the Northwest

ROGERS, Ark. (AP) — Rainmaker Homer Berry, who has been trying for several weeks to get someone to hire him to break the drought in northwest Arkansas, finally got his chance Wednesday.

A group of farmers in the Lowell area just north of the Benton-Washington county line promised him $1,250 to bring them a rain.

Hay and corn crops have been damaged by the drought, and Benton County Agent Ben Price of Bentonville said it would take a week of rain to help the area. A s s o c i a t e Washington County Agent Wyman Holbrook said any amount of rain short of a flood would help dry pastures.

Berry, a retired Air Force major who lives in North Little Rock, says he produces rain by burning chemically-saturated coke in a brick-lined fire barrel mounted on the bed of a pickup truck. He says the heat sends particles of silver iodide into the clouds, where they attract moisture which falls as rain.

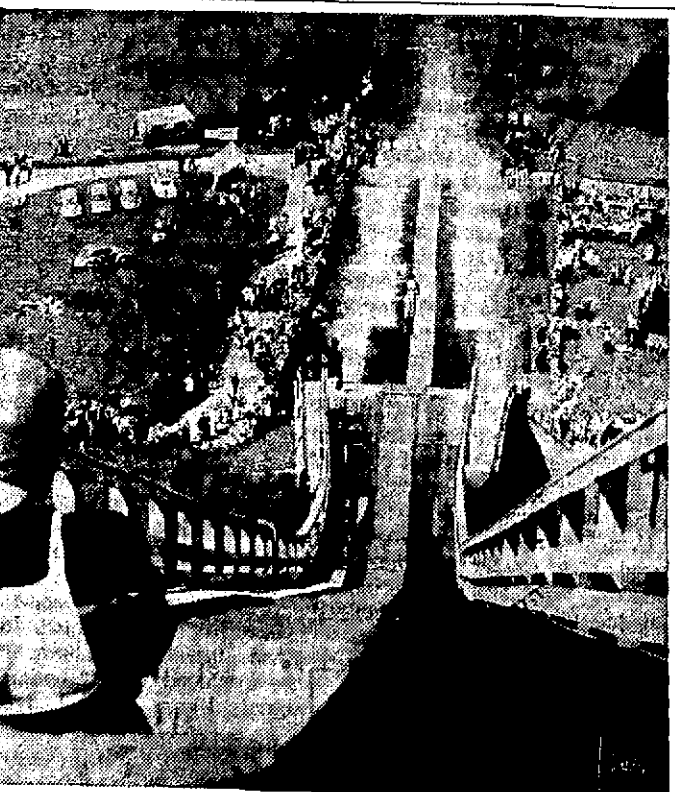

He drove his truck through the Lowell area Wednesday and made his headquarters at the home of farmer T. P. Ireland, who led the fund-raising effort.

FRUSTRATION, IN A STRAGGLING LINE—With not a smile showing on any face, this group of West Berliners waits patiently, almost sheeplike, for the Communist guards at a Berlin Wall checkpoint to let them through the concrete barrier to visit friends and relatives in East Berlin. Standing docilely, they symbolize people all over the world frustrated in reaching objectives by the heavy hand of communism's restraints.

Fishing Near Dam Is Ruled Out

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Army Engineers ruled out boating in the Arkansas River for 500 feet below Dardanelle Dam Wednesday.

Orville A. Sudderth, safety officer for the Army Engineers at Little Rock, said only bank fishing would be allowed in the restricted area because turbulent water caused by spillway outflow striking piers of a temporary construction bridge makes boating dangerous.

Two fishermen drowned June 28 when their boat was smashed to pieces against a pier of the bridge. The next day, a man looking for the bodies drowned when his boat overturned in the turbulent water.

The engineers had asked the state Game and Fish Commission to prohibit fishing below the dam, but the commission refused on grounds that it had no authority

Sudderth said the engineers also decided to prohibit boating for 500 feet upstream from the dam because of the danger that a boat might go over the spillway.

He said signs would be erected to warn boaters of the rulings.

Hot and Humid in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A high pressure system south of Arkansas continued to pour hot, humid air into the state today and temperatures were expected to hit 100 degrees under a bright sun.

Movement of a low pressure system, now centered over the Western Plains, held the prospect of more showers Friday and Saturday.

Hot weather is needed in sections of south Arkansas where showers during the past week have created excessive soil moisture conditions. Showers were not expected in this area until Saturday.

Wednesday's highs ranged in the 90s and Wednesday night's lows in the upper 60s to mid 70s.

Rainfall Wednesday was confined to the extreme southeast corner of the state. Portland recorded .62 inch.

Showers Friday and Saturday were expected to alleviate moisture deficits in about 30 per cent of north Arkansas.

Was Prophet Beyond His Imagination

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was June 14, 1946, when Bernard Baruch, U.S. delegate to the new U.N. Atomic Energy Commission, stated the American case for the future in the atomic age, or the future as it seemed then.

Less than a year before, on Aug. 6, 1945, the atomic age opened with the dropping of the first bomb on Hiroshima.

"We are here," Baruch told the commission, "to make a choice between the quick and the dead."

"Behind the black portent of the new atomic age lies a hope which, seized upon with faith, can work our salvation. If we fail, then we have damned every man to be a slave of fear."

He was a prophet beyond his own imagining.

He outlined the American plan: An international atomic development authority to control all phases of atomic development. Then for 17 years the nations talked about it but did nothing.

For the explosion at Hiroshima did more than destroy a city. It not only filled nations with fear of the bomb but with a profound misgiving about one another that was more unnerving than their fear of the bomb.

The Russians, to start with, wouldn't buy the Baruch plan. They had no bomb of their own then but they wouldn't let the United States have a monopoly if only until the Baruch plan became a reality, if ever.

And by 1953 they had developed their own hydrogen bomb and went on from there. In time the British and French, too, had their own explosions. The French far behind the British.

Then last week in Moscow, after all the years of talk and distrust, the United States, Britain and Russia agreed not to have nuclear tests in the atmosphere, in outer space or under the sea. It was a very limited agreement.

They couldn't agree to give up testing underground. And they didn't agree not to on building more weapons, although the United States and Russia already have enough to eliminate themselves and probably half of mankind.

Even so the Moscow agreement, limited as it was, could be ter of Batesville. The stamp program replaced the surplus commodities distribution program in the county.

considered a first step perhaps toward more far-reaching understandings. Thus it might seem the other nations, with or without the bomb, might have a sense of exhilaration.

It didn't happen. The repercussions from Hiroshima were still too intense.

In this country there was a feeling of gladness that at least something had been accomplished after 17 years but it was dulled by this first, immediate reaction: What are the Russians up to now?

Historians, looking back upon this trembling time, may feel that man's pathetic condition in 1963 was summed up unintentionally Wednesday when W. Averell Harriman addressed a luncheon at the National Press Club here.

Harriman, the American representative who reached the test ban agreement with the Russians last week, tried to allay the suspicions and the puzzlement of his audience:

"There's no secret agreement in this thing, no gimmick in it, no secret understanding."

Then, as if to be sure suspicions weren't washed away in optimism, Harriman said the agreement on a test ban didn't mean Premier Khrushchev had abandoned his hope of communizing the world. Harriman said he hadn't.

For that reason, even if the agreement is approved by a Congress where there are many misgivings, Khrushchev will be watched in this country with just as much distrust as before. Naturally, he will be equally wary of the West.

That this distrust of one another is not exclusive with the United States and Russia was quickly demonstrated by France and Red China. Neither will sign the agreement. China, in fact, called the whole thing a "fraud."

They are no more willing to let the United States and Russia have a monopoly on nuclear weapons than Russia was to let the United States have it in 1946 when Baruch made his speech. Both will try to make their own weapons.

Maybe a little was gained in the test ban agreement. But when that is compared with the distrust and fear that obsess mankind in general, this first step was hardly more than an initial visit to a psychiatrist.

Couple Plans to Re-marry

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Goff of Welton, Ariz., re-married Wednesday night after learning of a mix-up in Arkansas marriage laws while on a visit to their home state.

The Goffs have been married for 15 years, but he was 17 and she was 15 when they first tied the knot in Arkansas. A 1941 Arkansas law says the man must be 18 and the girl 16 for the wedding to be legal.

No one paid any attention to the law until the Social Security Administration said it would not pay wives and widows benefits to women who were not legally married.

A number of Arkansans have remarried. The Goffs, natives of Independence County, re-married in the Salado Baptist Church five miles south of Batesville.

They learned of the marriage law mix-up while visiting relatives in Salado on vacation. The Goffs left after the second wedding for a honeymoon trip home to Arizona.

MOTHER-IN-LAW SIDE-SWIPING VIA SON'S CHILDREN?

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE
Dear Helen: I am a daughter-in-law who gets along swell with my mother-in-law, despite one or two nasty incidents. Perhaps I am over-sensitive. Well, you tell me.

Our first child was a little boy whom we loved very much. My mother-in-law called him "Piggy" as a nickname. This I didn't like but, rather than go to her and say, "Please don't call our lovely baby such a horrid name," I asked my husband to tell her, thinking she could take it better from her own flesh and blood. He did and, as a consequence she wouldn't speak to me for two years. Then I bore a second child, another little boy, and she reconciled. Everything was fine for six years.

Now I have a dear daughter, just one year old. She weighs a healthy 18 pounds and is by no means fat for her length. But my mother-in-law calls her "Fat Girl," "Fat Stuff" and constantly says, "Ye gods, is she fat!" It tears my heart out to hear my wonderful little girl called such gross names — names I would never dream of calling my child, knowing how deep a mother's love is. This time I decided to speak to my mother-in-law myself but my husband said, "That would really be asking for trouble." Instead he phoned her. She snapped back that she shouldn't have to watch every word she uttered in front of me and to stay where we belong and she'll do the same. Am I at fault?

—Distressed Mother, Appleton, Wis.

Dear Distressed Mother: No, you're not at fault, and I think you should abide by the arrangement your mother-in-law proposes, keeping your distance. Is she, herself, by any chance, fat? One of the oldest quirks of human nature is to accuse others of what you yourself are guilty of. If it isn't her own avoirdupois that is needling her, something else about you and your husband and children is. With three young children to care for, your hands are full enough without attempting to analyze her idiosyncrasy. I suspect that deep down she is very fond of her grandchildren, but suffers a maladjustment which keeps her from expressing her love in the customary way. Her unreasonable reaction to your husband's perfectly reasonable request reveals her as a very unhappy, mixed-up woman.

Dear Helen: I'm a 14-year-old girl whose parents are at cross purposes about me. Pop is very much opposed to my dating boys. Mom is not. She says I'm only young once and shouldn't be tied to her apron strings any longer.

He absolutely forbids me to go with boys until I am 16. No boy is allowed to phone or call upon me. If this continues I fear boys will never like me. How can I convince my father that there is nothing wrong in wanting to date at my age. Please print this and your answer so that he can read it. —Daddy's Girl

Dear Daddy's Girl: A 14-year-old girl's interest in boys can hardly be considered wrong or abnormal. Mixed group activities such as dances, parties, picnics, are fairly common at this age. Your father is simply bending over backwards to protect you. He doesn't realize that the best way to hang on to you is to give you a little rope. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my letter, "Cautious Parents," and ask him to read it.

Dear Helen: My husband and I aren't living as man and wife. Why, I don't know. I'm attractive and quite appealing to other men and at one time my husband found me desirable. Now he says he no longer cares. Being young and wanting to be loved, I'm afraid of what may happen. I've reached the point where I'm considering going back to my parents and starting life over again —without him. What do you think? I'm 28, he ten years older. —Want-to-Be-Loved

Dear Want-to-Be-Loved: You've omitted one important facet of your situation — your feeling for your husband. You say you want to be loved. So does every other human being, "including" your husband. Are you meeting his need? Love begets love. It's just as simple as that. If you are truly interested in rekindling your husband's love, I'm certain that you can do so. This is the God-given endowment of every female.

Have your a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Quit School, Pay Debt, Youth Told

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Juvenile Court judge said today he ordered a 16-year-old boy to quit high school, take a job and pay half of his weekly salary for five years to the family of a man he ran down with a car "because it is the best thing for him and society."

Arthur Brookes Jr. received the unusual punishment Wednesday from Judge J. Sydney Hoffman, who said the boy would go right to jail, until he's 21, if he skips even one week's payment in the next five years.

Brookes pleaded guilty to assault and battery by auto and driving without a license. A car he had borrowed from a friend last July 17 ran out of control and knocked down Steve M. Breitenbach, 46, as he watered his lawn in northeast Philadelphia.

Breitenbach, a printer, lost his right foot and suffered severe head and body injuries. He still is in the hospital.

"There is no rule of thumb in Juvenile Court," said Judge Hoffman. "What we try to do is rehabilitate the children and provide some security, some safety and some benefit for the public, too."

"This is the best plan for him. He was an indifferent student and had a very poor school record. This sentence will give him a sense of responsibility, rehabilitate him and make him a good citizen."

The boy's parents suggested he be allowed to work and help support the Breitenbachs, who have three children, while the father recuperated.

They brought in a bricklayer friend who offered the job, and then put up a $5,000 note which will be forfeit to the Breitenbachs if young Brookes misses one weekly payment.

Grand Jury Sets Two Meetings

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The U.S. Grand Jury for the Western District of Arkansas will convene Aug. 14 in Hot Springs to hear cases in the resort city, then will move on to Texarkana.

Federal District Judge John E. Miller said Wednesday the jury would not have time to return to Fort Smith for a regular jury session.

A federal Grand Jury investigated Hot Springs gambling late last year but handed down no indictments. Gambling apparently will not be investigated by the jury when it meets in Hot Springs this month.

Federal Pressures

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., has granted a request by Rep. George Huddleston, D-Ala., for a House Commerce Committee investigation of alleged federal pressures on the L&N Railroad. The pressure allegedly involved racial hiring practices.

Murphy Profits

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—The Murphy Corp., an El Dorado-based petroleum company, reported Wednesday that its net income for the quarter ended June 30 was $731,000, amounting to 17 cents a share of common stock after provisions were made for preferred dividends.

Hurricane Data Due in 3 Months

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. scientists may find out in the next three months whether man can hope to tame hurricanes.

Experiments two years ago suggested to Navy and Weather Bureau experts that seeding clouds with silver iodide crystals could soften the destructive winds.

From now until Nov. 1 the scientists will attempt to duplicate the 1961 experiments conducted while Hurricane Esther was raging.

"If the results of the experiment duplicate those of 1961," the Navy said, "an important step will have been taken in the battle to ameliorate the destructive fury of hurricanes."

The next step, the Navy said, will be to seek ways of magnifying the scale of the experiment and thus the reduction of winds.

The experiment is called Storm-fury and got its start seven years ago after catastrophic hurricanes struck the U.S. East Coast.

Eleven airplanes will be used in this year's operation, seven supplied by the Navy and four by the Weather Bureau.

Silver iodide crystals are similar in structure to ice crystals. When silver iodide is ejected into clouds, moisture gathers on the crystals and freezes. In the process, energy is released in the form of latent heat.

In the 1961 test, visual and radar observations indicated that a relatively small "chimney" near the eye serves as the primary energy source of a hurricane.

These discoveries suggested that a balance of forces in the storm might be altered by seeding in this small area, no larger than 200 square miles, and causing conversion of water to ice crystals.

The pioneer experiments produced dramatic changes in wind velocity, although they lasted only a brief time.

The hurricane control experiments will be concentrated in the Caribbean and tropical waters of the Atlantic.

OSSINING, N.Y. (AP)—Al Reich, a former boxer who once served as bodyguard for Dr. John F. Condon, the "Jafsie" of the Lindbergh case, is dead at 73.

Reich, who fought as a heavyweight and once was a sparring partner for Jack Dempsey, died Saturday.

Reich, whose full name was Alfred J. Reich, assisted Condon in the latter's efforts to serve as an intermediary for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh in attempting to ransom Lindbergh's kidnapped son.

The child later was found dead. Bruno Richard Hauptmann was executed for the crime.

Pickets Back at Brooklyn Hospital

NEW YORK (AP)—Pickets returned to their demonstration at a Brooklyn hospital site today with a new tactic and apparently sobered up by the nearness of a riot.

Yet they chanted "police brutality must go" as they paraded in demand for more jobs for Negroes and Puerto Ricans in publicly Downstate Medical Center construction site.

Other pickets who sat in the hospital driveway blocking a truck left when policemen advised them they were courting arrest.

"This morning we are experimenting with a delaying tactic where the pickets will sit and delay the trucks, then walk off," said the Rev. Milton Galamison, a Presbyterian Negro and one of the leaders of the Brooklyn movement. "It's a matter of conscience of the individual whether he chooses to be arrested."

A force of 234 policemen kept a watch on the demonstration.

A surging crowd of 100 angry, shouting Negro and white pickets almost got out of control Wednesday.

Foot patrolmen using nightsticks and mounted policemen bodily pushed back the demonstrators, subduing them until a leader could persuade them to disperse.

Twenty-two persons, including seven clergymen, were arrested. Fourteen demonstrators were arrested elsewhere in the city Wednesday. About 750 arrests have been made in the past three weeks, mostly at the Brooklyn hospital site.

Foytack First to Give Up 4 Homers Straight

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Put Paul Foytack's feat high on that list of baseball's dubious distinctions.

The Los Angeles Angels' right-hander became the first pitcher in major league history to give up four straight home runs in a single inning Wednesday night—an unwanted achievement if ever there was one.

Foytack was bombarded in the second game of a doubleheader at Cleveland when Woodie Held, pitcher Pedro Ramos, Tito Francona and Larry Brown socked successive homers in the sixth inning. The rapid-fire barrage climaxed a night of long-range hitting for the Indians as they swept the Angels, 1-0 and 9-5.

The four consecutive homers in an inning set an American League record and tied the major league mark established by Milwaukee in June 1961. But the Braves hit their four in a row against two different Cincinnati pitchers—so Foytack's feat is a first.

All told, the Indians whacked seven homers in the doubleheader. Fred Whitfield won the opener with a shot in the eighth inning and also hit a grand slam in the second game, and Ramos hit a pair in the nightcap.

Also in the AL—Tom Tresh's homer with two out in the bottom of the ninth gave New York's first-place Yankees a 3-2 decision over Kansas City; the Chicago White Sox beat Washington 5-2; Baltimore beat Detroit, 2-1; and Minnesota tripped Boston 9-5.

In the National League—the Los Angeles Dodgers downed the New York Mets 5-3, Philadelphia ended San Francisco's winning streak at nine, 7-3 in 14 innings. Cincinnati trounced St. Louis 9-2, the Chicago Cubs nipped Milwaukee 3-2, and Pittsburgh downed Houston 6-3.

Barry Latman pitched a four-hitter for the Indians in the opener at Cleveland, settled by Whitfield's homer off Fred Newman in the eighth.

In the second game Ramos' first homer and the grand slam by Whitfield came in the third inning, giving Cleveland a 5-1 lead, and it went to 9-1 with the Tribe's four-in-a-row in the sixth.

Ralph Terry held the Athletics to five hits, but they bunched two of them and two sacrifice flies for a 2-2 tie in the seventh inning. Tresh pulled it out for the Yanks, however, with his clutch homer off reliever Ted Bowsfield in the ninth.

The White Sox beat the Senators with a four-run fifth inning highlighted by Jim Landis' two-run triple. Ray Herbert, who won it with relief help from Hoyt Wilhelm, blanked Washington until Don Zimmer homered with one on in the seventh. The loser was Claude Osteen.

New Anti-Castro Move Started

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Organization of a new anti-Castro movement that would punish slackers was announced today by Cuban exiles.

The group is headed by Dr. Carlos Marquez Sterling, who helped frame Cuba's last constitution and who was an unsuccessful candidate for president in 1958.

It is called Free Cuba Patriotic Movement. A proclamation of the movement declares all Cubans over 16 of both sexes are obligated to serve in some capacity in the "liberation war."

General Feels Bad About Retiring

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, famed for his "Nuts" reply to a surrender demand, said Wednesday he feels almost the same way about retiring as a business executive.

"I'm already unhappy at the prospect of not coming to work tomorrow," McAuliffe said in his last hours as a vice president and director of American Cyanamid Co.

"I'm not going to like it unless I find something interesting to do."

McAuliffe is leaving American Cyanamid under its compulsory retirement policy at age 65.

Almost 19 years have passed since he wrote an imperishable page in American military annals during the Battle of the Bulge, then raging around Bastogne, Belgium.

Although his paratroops of the 101st Airborne Division were surrounded and outnumbered 4-1, McAuliffe spurred surrender to the Germans in a single word—"Nuts."

The tide of battle turned in succeeding days, hastening a victorious end to World War II.

Looking back, McAuliffe, still a wiry 5 feet 8 and 135 pounds, agreed the incident capped his colorful and varied career.

Following retirement from the Army, McAuliffe joined American Cyanamid, a chemical concern, at the age of 37 in 1956 as general manager of engineering and construction, rising to a vice presidency later.

His immediate plans are for a two-month trip to the Mediterranean with his wife and three grown children. Then, he'll take up residence in Washington.

Homer by Tresh Gives Yanks a Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Tommy Tresh smashed a home run with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning to give the New York Yankees a 3-2 victory Wednesday and the rubber of their three game series with the Kansas City Athletics.

Ted Bowsfield, a left-hander, was on the mound for the Athletics. He had replaced starter Diego Segui in the sixth inning and had held the Yankees scoreless until Tresh's game-winning blow.

The Yankees gave the right-hander a 2-0 lead after four innings but the A's tied the score at 2-2 in the seventh. Jerry Lumoe singled and raced to third on Norm Siebern's double. Both scored on back-to-back sacrifice flies by Charlie Lau and Ed Charles.

Home Runs Collar the Travelers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Toronto collared Arkansas pitching for home runs, two doubles and 13 singles and whipped the Travelers 14-2 in a National League baseball game Wednesday night.

In other league games, Rochester edged Atlanta 5-4, Syracuse trimmed Jacksonville 6-3, Indianapolis beat Buffalo twice, 9-3 and 7-6 in 10 innings, and Richmond and Columbus split, the Vees winning the first game 1-0 and losing to Columbus 8-6 in the nightcap.

Morton had homered in the fifth for the only early Toronto run, and Lou Jackson wrapped up scoring with a three-run circuit clout for the Leafs in the ninth.

Jack Hamilton took his sixth loss against two triumphs and Carl Bouldin got his seventh victory against six defeats.

The defeat was only the fourth in the last 22 home games for Arkansas. The revitalized Leafs are 16-7 for their last 23 games. Toronto 000 010 463—14 19 1

Spins 6 Hitter But Loses to the Dodgers

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Roger Craig, the major leagues' No. 1 pitching pauper, stands today one step away from etching yet another entry into the New York Mets' lengthy log of negative statistics.

The hapless hurler with the "I gotta pitch a shutout to get a tie" motto spun a six-hitter Wednesday night against National League-leading Los Angeles but came away with a 5-3 defeat—and his 17th consecutive loss.

The triumph, increasing the Dodgers' lead over second-place San Francisco to 4 1/2 games, shackled Craig with his 19th defeat and extended a winless streak that dates from his second victory on April 29.

Just one loss removed from becoming a two-time 20-game loser, Craig also has closed in on a league record for successive setbacks that has escaped being matched for over half a century. In 1910, Clifton Curtis of the then Boston Braves lost 19 in a row.

Craig, a 32-year-old right-hander, became the loser when the Dodgers pushed across two runs in the fourth inning with the aid of an error and a wild pitch.

An error also contributed to the downfall of the second-place Giants. With their nine-game winning streak on the line, relief pitcher Bob Bolin uncorked a wild throw that catapulted Philadelphia to a 7-3 victory in 14 innings.

In other games, Cincinnati knocked third-place St. Louis five games back as Jim O'Toole broke a six-game losing streak by beating the Cardinals 9-2, Ron Santo supplied the punch for the Chicago Cubs' 3-2 triumph over Milwaukee and Pittsburgh whipped Houston 6-3.

The American League-leading New York Yankees maintained their eight-game bulge by beating Kansas City 3-2, the Chicago White Sox downed Washington 5-2, Minnesota belted Boston 9-5, Baltimore edged Detroit 2-1 and Cleveland swept a doubleheader from the Los Angeles Angels 1-0 and 9-5.

Craig fell behind when catcher John Roseboro tripled home two runs and scored a third for battermate Pete Richter, 1-1, in the second inning. In the fourth, the Dodgers clinched it on singles by Tommy Davis and Ron Fairly, an error by Ron Hunt and Craig's wild pitch. Frank Thomas drove in two Mel runs with a pair of singles.

The Phils scored twice against Giants' 17-game winner Juan Marchal in the ninth to tie, then got their first break in the 14th on an interference call against catcher Ed Bailey that put two men on. Earl Averill followed with a bouncer back to Bolin, who heaved the ball over third base. Johnny Callison capped the burst with a two-run homer. Jack Baldschun brought his record to 9-4 with six innings of two-hit relief. Bolin is 6-4.

Markets Are Featuring Beef Roasts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beef is shouldering its way back into the spotlight at many markets this weekend.

Most frequent features include rump and round roasts, with shoulder and chuck roasts also bargain-priced in some stores.

Hamburger specials are also to be found in many areas.

Pork steaks are a competing feature, especially in the Midwest.

Broiler-fryers and turkeys continue to vie for shopper attention at price levels that remain economical.

Canned tuna is again one of the main attractions star among seafood items, though fresh fish gains are available in many regions.

Vegetable offers have expanded in most areas, though hot weather in the Southwest has reduced local selection.

Nationally, best buys include green beans, tomatoes, cabbage, green peppers, carrots, lettuce, eggplant and corn.

Best fruit buys include cantaloupes, grapes, nectarines and peaches, with regional bargains including avocados and new apples in the Northeast, watermelon in the Midwest and plums in the West.

Grocery counter attractions include peanut butter and salad and cooking oils.

Sugar prices have been inching downward as grocers use up stocks brought during the high-price period earlier this year. Wholesale prices are already much lower.

Voting Big Leverage in Race Politics

DEEPENING CRISIS IV: The Political Effects

Art will be provided by AP Wire-photo.

EDITOR'S NOTE—In a potentially powerful weapon in his fight against segregation, the Negro is enthusiastically taking part today in a massive vote registration campaign. As the number grows, the political leverage of the Negro increases. Fourth in a specialized series of articles by The Associated Press on the racial crisis.

By RELMAN MORIN

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP) — The Negro woman says she is 50 years old and wants to register to vote. She doesn't know the procedure, never having done it.

In the offices of the Tuskegee Civic Association, a Negro organization, they give her a sample copy of the Alabama registration form. Slowly, studying it line by line, she fills in the form. A TCA official finds some minor errors but otherwise, he says, the papers are in order. He tells her where, and on which days, she can file a real application. If it is accepted, she will be a registered voter.

A reporter questions her. She says, simply:

"I just want to become a citizen of our country. Being registered will make me a full citizen."

This scene—with its immense potentialities for the Negro movement—is being re-enacted in hundreds of cities in the South today.

It is the result of the voter-registration drive.

Throughout the South, Negro organizations are working to register more of their people, thousands of men and women who never voted before. As the number grows, the political leverage of the Negro increases. Here, potentially, is a powerful weapon in his fight against segregation.

The drive moves through many channels.

The woman in Tuskegee may have decided to try to register after hearing a constantly repeated radio appeal, attending a meeting, or simply receiving a handbill.

Elsewhere, Negro workers canvass a residential district on registration days, ringing doorbells. If the housewife isn't registered, they urge her to go to the courthouse immediately. If she has no transportation, they provide it. If she says she can't leave her children, they offer to baby-sit.

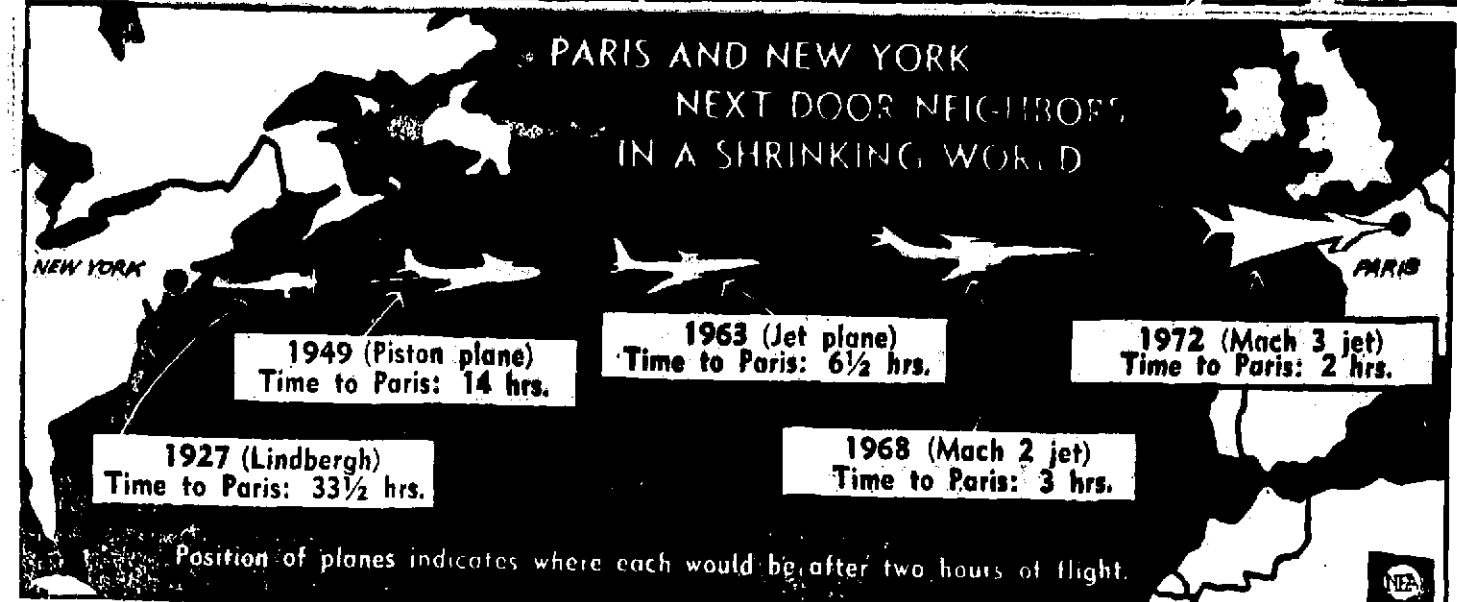

Another device is the "voter clinic." This is a meeting in which Negro instructors show would-be applicants the technicalities of registering, how to correctly fill out the forms. In Tuskegee alone, during the month of June, there were 19 such "clinics."

And there is the famous Alabama mule. He walks through the streets of Huntsville, carrying a sandwich billboard. The sign reads, "I'm not registered because I'm a mule. What's your excuse?"

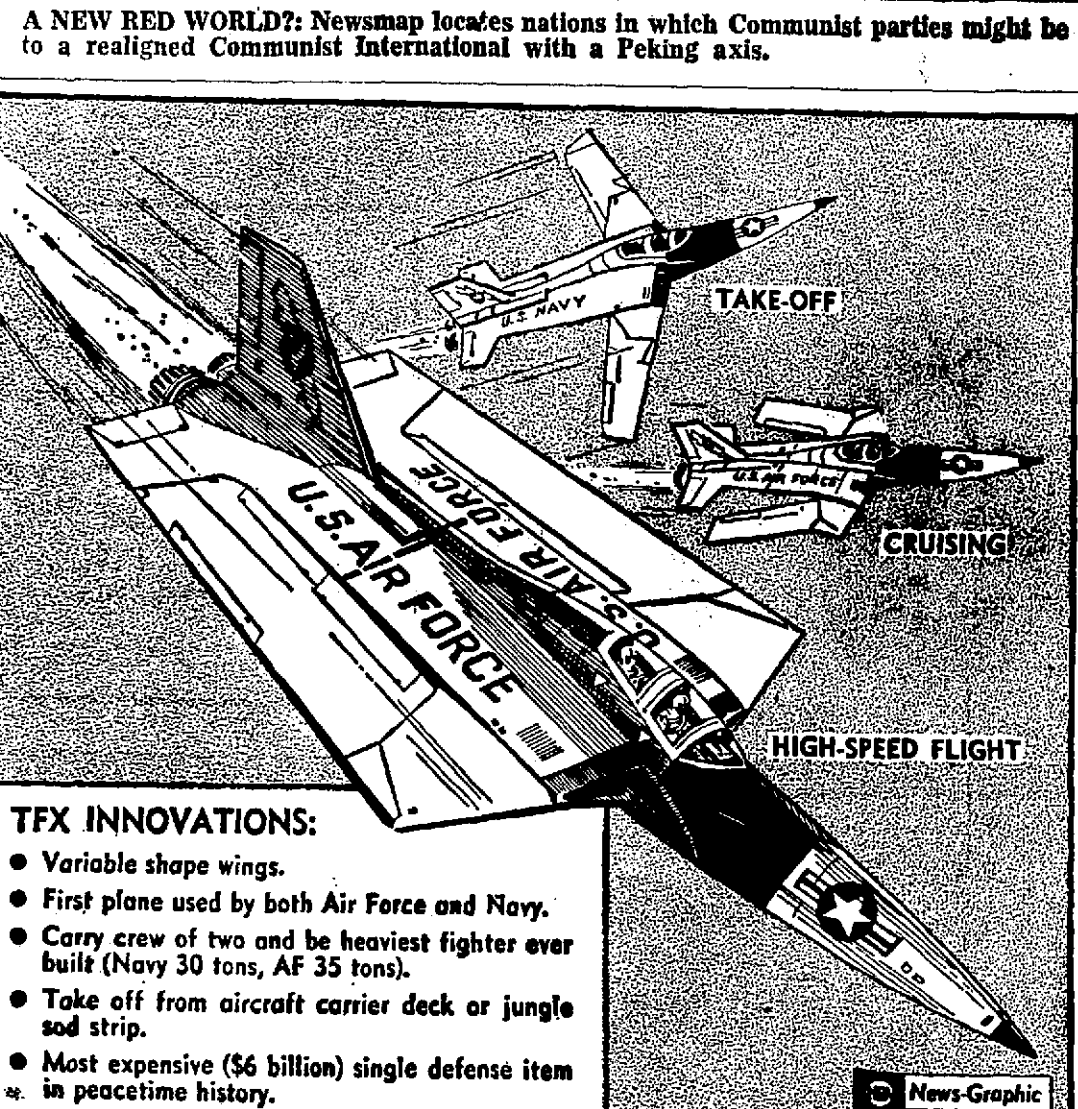

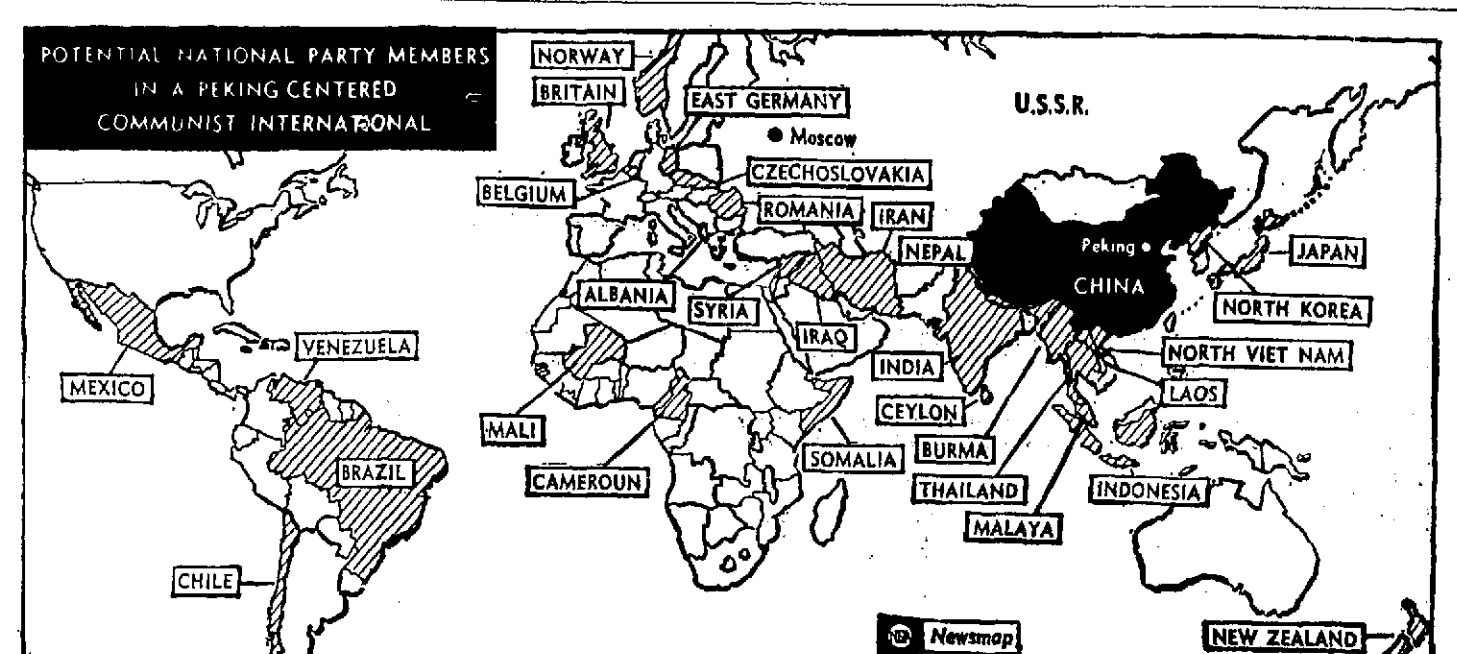

Speaking of the voter registration drives, Bishop George W. Barber of the African Methodist Episcopal Church said:

"The objectives of the campaign would be accomplished substantially by registering and voting every single, eligible voter within sight or hearing of our membership. Our goal is a minimum of two million new Negro voters, North and South."

The movement is steady and seems to be gaining momentum. What are the results?

TIMED TO TOMORROW—Space-age thinking is geared to jet-age travel for a not-too-distant tomorrow, as charted on News-Graphic, above. President Kennedy has announced that the United States will try to build an even faster plane than the six supersonic-type jets now on order by Pan American World Airways for 1968 operation. Planes on order are to be built by a British-French combine.

NEW GENERATION FIGHTER—Known now as the TFX (Tactical Fighter Experimental) and eventually to be called the F-111 when it rolls off the production line in 1965, airplane shown in drawing above is unusual in a number of ways. Most outstanding characteristic will be its ability to change the shape of its wings: extended for high lift on take-off; partly retracted for cruising at moderate speed; and folded back like those of a diving bird of prey for high-speed flight. That high speed will be 1,650 miles an hour, both at high altitude and treetop level. The TFX, or F-111, will be able to carry nuclear bombs anywhere in the world in one day with mid-air refueling. The TFX became the center of a controversy in Congress when Defense Department civilian chiefs overruled decisions of the military in awarding the huge contract.

Exact figures for the South as a whole are not complete. However, the Department of Justice and the Southern Regional Council's "voter education project" pinpoint the changes in some specific areas.

In Tennessee's Haywood and Fayette Counties, a Justice Department official said, Negro registration has jumped from 150 to about 5,000 in five years.

Bullock County, Ala., had four Negro voters on the rolls in 1961, he said. Now the figure is 1,341. In the city of Montgomery, the rate of registration of Negroes used to be about 200 a year. Now it is about 200 per month, he said.

Statistics on 11 Southern states, compiled by the Southern Regional Council, indicate that about one-fourth of the Negroes of voting age are registered. The figures show a total of 5,045,000, of whom 1,344,000 are registered. Wiley Branton, an SRC executive, said the figures are incomplete, some counties being as yet untabulated.

Comparable figures for the white voting population in these states show 17,539,000, of whom 10,566,000 are registered.

Especially in areas where Negroes outnumber the whites—sometimes by as much as five to one—many devices have been used to keep political power in the hands of the whites.

Registration boards met irregularly and at widely spaced intervals. They worked slowly, and then quit for the day, while Negroes were still waiting in line to file applications. Or they rejected applications on technical grounds.

For example, on March 17, 1961, after a long legal battle, a federal court in Alabama ruled on a lawsuit involving Macon County. The judge wrote in his memorandum that:

"18 affidavits, more than half of whom had college or advanced degrees, were rejected for such inconsequential, formal, technical mistakes."

He ordered the board to register 64 Negroes and to give priority attention to 400 applicants on the waiting list.

Similarly, in testimony before the House Judiciary Committee, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said:

"In one county, Negroes have been required to copy and interpret long, archaic sections of the state constitution, and then have been rejected for omissions of punctuation. Whites, meanwhile, have been asked to copy such simple provisions as, 'There shall be no imprisonment for debt.'"

Mississippi's Gov. Ross Barnett, ascribed the small number of registered Negroes in his state to other causes. In a copyrighted interview with U.S. News and World Report, he said:

"The primary reasons for the fewer Negro voters include illiteracy, apathy, and the law requiring payment of a poll tax. So many Negroes are not qualified to vote."

As Negro voting strength increases, what are the political implications for a candidate for public office in the South?

There have been indications already—although it is difficult to say with certainty—that the Negro vote tipped the balance in certain elections. Some residents of Birmingham, Ala., for example, say Negro ballots ousted T. Eugene (Bull) Connor from the city government. Others are not so sure.

In any case, the thousands of could spell the difference.

What You Haven't Done Tells Kind of Person You Are Clearly as What You've Done

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—What you haven't done tells what kind of person you are almost as clearly as what you have done.

Write down a list of things you never did, or never tried to do, and it makes an oddly reverse biography of your life—revealing to yourself as well as to strangers.

Just to get the game started, here's a partial list of things not done by one man who, now past the half-century mark, never has—

Owned a square inch of soil.

Piloted an airplane.

Tipped a head waiter to get a table.

Bawled out the same boss twice.

Kept a songbird—or a parrot—in a cage.

Bought or carried a briefcase.

Borrowed money from a millionaire.

Played any musical instrument except a pocket comb covered with a piece of tissue paper.

Discovered any cure for hangovers except the passage of time.

Been arrested for jaywalking or littering the sidewalk.

Won first prize in any kind of lottery.

Learned any new dance since the fox-trot.

Hunted any animal larger than a rabbit.

Cashed a check at an out-of-town bank.

Stayed awake clear through a Wagnerian opera.

Spoken a foreign language.

Cooked any dish more complicated than bacon and scrambled eggs.

Learned how to tune a television set in — and wife out — at the same time.

Inherited money from friend, relative, or foe.

Knocked a man merely because he was successful. (You can always find other grounds.)

Failed to give a quarter to a panhandler without feeling guilty.

Had a manicure in a barber shop.

Met a payroll—or missed a paycheck.

Kissed a red-haired girl with green eyes.

Felt a bigger sense of achievement than the first time he put a five-week-old infant over his shoulder and got it to give a big loud burp.

Looked up at the stars on a summer night without wondering where he'd come from — and where he'd go.

So what's on your list of things undone that helped make you who and what you are?

Free Parking for Sidewalk Sale

The City Board of Directors has authorized the closing of 2nd street, from Elm to Walnut, during the hours from 8:00 to 11:00 a.m., Thursday, August 1st, for the annual sidewalk sale.

The Board decided to go all the way in helping the affair to be successful and a lot of fun for everybody by giving free parking to everyone for the day. Police are being instructed to leave off the parking meter patrol for the day and to assist in handling the downtown traffic, according to Mayor Frank Douglas.

'Cleo' Will Be Long Time Paying Way

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television: 28n:5 kb
AP Movie-Television: 28n:5 kb
9% ALLG... O J—There is an old Hollywood saying that everyone has two businesses: their own and the movie business. People everywhere are aware of MGM's problems with "Mutiny on the Bounty" and 20th Century-Fox's travails with "Cleopatra."

There was a time when movie costs and returns were known only to high studio officials. Lately the companies have been talking about their finances, possibly because of the prodding of irate stockholders.

Take "Cleo," for example. Its total cost is generally reckoned at $40 million. The rule of thumb is that a movie's gross return must double its cost before turning a profit. But this does not apply to spectaculars with huge budgets.

Fox president Darryl F. Zanuck has figured $62 million will put "Cleo" in the black. Advance payments already have reached $20 million.

"Mutiny on the Bounty" is another story. Although it will be one of the biggest grossers in film history, its huge cost will prevent a profit—at least until it is released years hence.

The Marlon Brando film cost $19 million and needed a $31 million return to break even. MGM has written off an $8 million loss on the venture.

There is a bright side at MGM, however, in "How the West Was Won." The cinematic western has been a phenomenon.

As of July 20, it had brought in $9,102,911 in this country, playing in only 44 theaters. An equal amount has come in from overseas engagements.

"How the West Was Won" cost $12 million, and its break-even point is $20 million.

The granddaddy of all epics, "Gone With the Wind," cost a mere $4,300,000 in 1939. In five releases it has racked up rentals of $67 million, making it the biggest moneymaker of all time.

"Ben-Hur" is pushing the long-time champ with a total of $65 million on only one release. It cost $15 million and broke even at $23.5 million.

Indians Find Plane Wreckage
BOMBAY, India (AP)—Indian navy ships today were reported to have found the submerged fuselage of the United Arab Airlines Comet which crashed in the Arabian Sea Sunday with the loss of 63 lives.

A mass of wreckage was located at the bottom of the ocean bed, west of Bombay. It probably will be salvaged later this week.

Three more bodies were brought from the sea, bringing the total to eight so far recovered. The plane was en route from Tokyo to Cairo when it plunged into the sea about 1 a.m. Sunday as it was coming in to land at Bombay.

Among the victims were 23 Filipino Boy Scouts en route to a world jamboree in Athens.

Convict Perched on Water Tower
FORT MADISON, Iowa (AP)—William T. Bradley, 45, sat through a brief, light rain this morning as his stay atop a water tower as the state penitentiary went into its fourth day.

Warden John Bennett said officials will continue to wait, confident that the convict sooner or later will come down.

Bradley carried a blanket, a safety razor, and a bucket presumed to contain food when he climbed the 140-foot tower.

Bennett said Bradley has access to water in the tank atop the tower, which supplies the prison walls.

Bradley is serving 25 years for assault with intent to commit bodily injury and for habitual crime.

In English law, a boarding house cannot be considered an inn, for there is a distinction at law between a guest and a boarder. A boarder makes a contract to stay for a certain period and a landlord is free to accept or reject him as in any other party to a contract. On the other hand, an innkeeper has no right to select his guests or refuse shelter at any hour of the day or night.

OEP Will Take Up Spa Flood

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., has notified Garland County Judge Lon Warneke that the Office of Emergency Planning probably will take a look today at a report on the flood that hit the county July 16.

The report could result in grants from the OEP for temporary repairs of public facilities.

The Small Business Administration already has designated the county a disaster area, making small businessmen in the county eligible for government loans at low interest rates.

The flood caused an estimated $350,000 damage to roads, bridges and streets in Hot Springs and surrounding areas and about $2 million to private businesses.

Negroes File Suit Against Railway

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Seven Negro men, charging racial discrimination, filed a suit in U.S. District Court today asking $10 million from the Missouri Pacific Railroad and the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks.

Their attorney, Wilson Gray, said the suit was filed because the men felt they were being discriminated against in the disposition of jobs by the railroad.

Gray said Missouri-Pacific was automating part of the jobs done by the clerks, messengers and laborers at the St. Louis office.

The attorney said that the company had agreed with the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks to allow messengers and clerks to do the jobs now done by laborers.

About 97 per cent of the messengers and clerks are white, Gray said, and about 97 per cent of the laborers are Negro.

Wants Repressions in Africa Ended

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Security Council today called on Portugal to end alleged repressions in her African territories and put them on the road to independence.

The vote in the 11-nation council was 8-0 with the United States, Britain and France abstaining.

The Asian-African resolution was watered down by a series of amendments, but it still had provisions which the United States opposed.

In its final form the proposal requested that all countries take measures to prevent the supply of military equipment which the Portuguese government might use to "continue its repression" of the people in its African territories.

During the debate, African spokesmen had charged that weapons supplied by the United States and other members of NATO had been used against opposition groups in the territories.

Infantry Elects

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Patrick J. McDermott of Falls City, Neb., was elected president of the 96th Infantry Division at its reunion in Little Rock Saturday. Other officers elected were William D. Meyer of Oxford, Ohio, and Robert Huff of Carbondale, Ill., vice presidents; and Robert Fitzpatrick of Pontiac, Ill., secretary. The 96th was famed as the "Deadeyes" of World War II.

Education Week Is Proclaimed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today proclaimed Nov. 10-16 as American Education Week.

He said the concept of free, universal education for all young people was, for the first time in the history of the world, translated into reality in this country.

It has been used against opposition groups in the territories. In the past, Portugal has ignored similar U.N. resolutions.

Two Can Handle Stamp Plan

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Participation in the pilot food stamp program in Independence County has almost doubled, Welfare Commissioner Jim Phillips said today, but he feels two staff members can continue to administer the project.

The program began last April 1 with 788 families eligible to participate. There are now 1,219 families eligible.

Two men—Chief Clerk Nathan U. Carpenter and C. Earl Altom, a parttime assistant—have run the program since Carpenter replaced Roy Bone as chief clerk early this summer.

Imported Labor Action Stalled

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate labor subcommittee, attempting to stall hurried Senate action on extension of an imported labor program, will begin hearings today on the effect of imported Mexican farm labor on wage and job opportunities of domestic farm workers.

Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., chairman of the subcommittee, said the program, which expires Dec. 31, severely reduces job opportunities and limits wages of American farm workers. The House already has defeated a two-year extension of the program.

Soybean Futures

CHICAGO (AP)—Corn and soybean futures extended their downward trend today as steady selling pressure continued on the Board of Trade. Other grains showed little change generally although wheat was firm at times.

Loss in soybeans again ran to two cents or more most of the time while September corn slipped about a cent.

Carlot receipts today were estimated at: wheat 91 cars, corn 56, oats 58, rye none, barley 43, soybeans 8.

A Short Short Story

ISN'T EVERYBODY

By RUSSELL KAZMAREK

Eddie couldn't stand music. Whenever he heard anything that had a tone in it, he almost went mad. He had no radio, no television, no record player in his home. His daughter was the only teen-ager in town that didn't have a platter made by the popular juke box idol of the day.

Eddie was a little man who liked boiler-makers. Each night about 8:30 he sat in his T-shirt on the front porch with a six-pack of beer and a bottle of bourbon to drink while he watched people walk by. He would open a can of beer, pour a shot into it and relished the supreme simplicity of it all.

As he sipped his boiler-maker a boy and girl came walking by on the sidewalk, about 30 feet from where Eddie sat. The boy carried a small transistor, and music was coming from it.

Eddie was on his feet at the sound. "Turn off that radio!" he shouted.

The boy and girl paid no attention. They liked this crazy music. "Turn that thing down," Eddie yelled again.

He got up and walked off the porch. The young boy looked at him queerly.

"Now look, mister. I've got a right to be here. I haven't come on your property or caused any damage have I?"

Eddie couldn't hear the boy talking. The only sound that filled his mind was the irritating scratchiness of that music. He tore out to the sidewalk with the fury of a wounded rhino. The boy stood dumbfounded as Eddie snatched the radio.

"Sassy brat," he said as he smashed it to the sidewalk. "I hate music!"

The boy shouted to the girl.

"Run, Margie, this guy's got a short circuit."

For a minute after they had left, Eddie couldn't stop shaking. He walked back to the house, his eyes blank, his fingers itching. He sat on the porch, devouring the wonderful silence that now closed in around him.

Fifteen minutes later he heard a siren. He held his ears.

He almost went crazy as the sound came closer. Then he saw the flashing red light as the car halted by his door. Two uniformed policemen came toward the house with the young man whose radio Eddie had smashed. One of the officers called out:

"Would you come here for a second, sir?"

Eddie gave the officer a dumb look. "Why do you use that terrible siren?"

"That's got nothing to do with it," said the policeman. "This young man said you smashed his radio. Come here."

"All right," said Eddie. He got up and walked over to the police car.

"Yeah," said the young man. "That's the guy. He acted nuts."

Eddie stared at the young man. "You're the one who's crazy," Eddie said. "I was sitting on the porch, enjoying the simple things of life, when you came along to torment me with that awful music."

"Torment you?" the officer laughed. "Well, I'll admit some of this modern music is pretty bad, but it really shouldn't hurt you."

"That infernal noise puts me out of my mind," Eddie said. "You should have heard the awful racket. A lot of pots and pans banging together couldn't have sounded worse."

The first officer looked at his buddy and shook his head. Then he turned to Eddie. "You'd better come down to the station, sir," he said. "The young man's filed a complaint and you'll have to explain your actions."

Eddie was too contrite to argue. The officer led him to the patrol car. The young man began whistling as he walked down the street to pick up Margie, his girl friend.

"Stop that whistling!" Eddie shouted. His voice was high-pitched and hysterical.

The officer jerked Eddie around. "Cut that out!" he said.

But Eddie gave the officer a shove and whirled away, in the direction the young man had taken. There was murder in his eyes.

The policeman drew his pistol and fired a shot into the air. Eddie stopped at the sound. His hands slapped to his sides and his body became ramrod straight. He started walking stiff-legged in a circle.

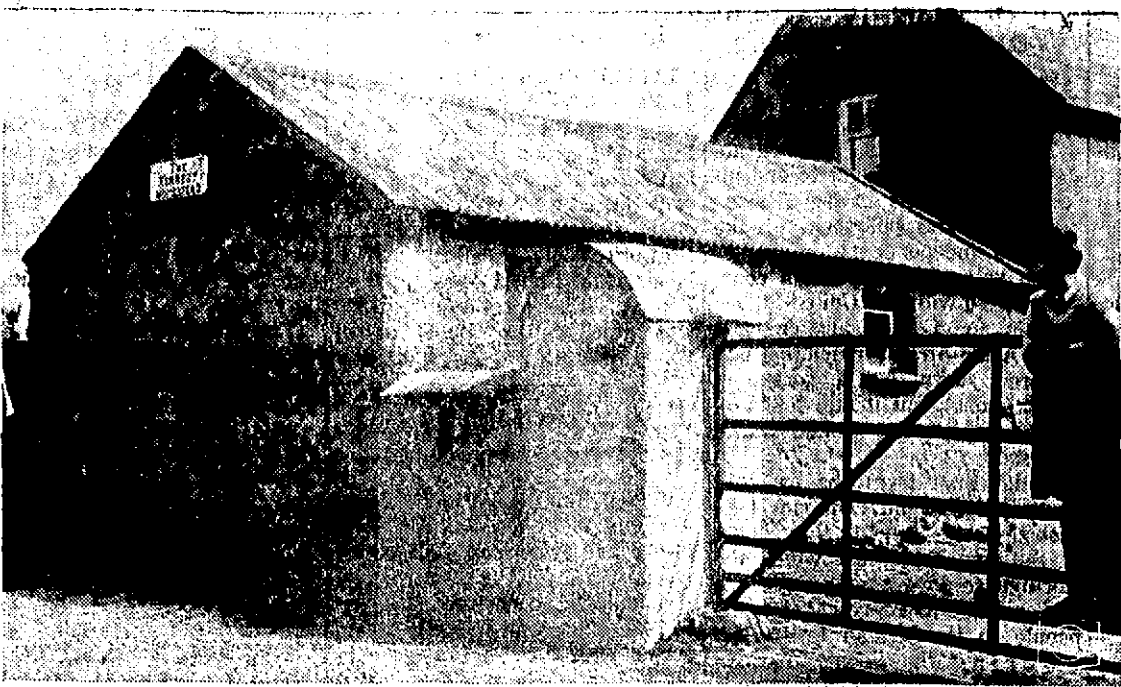

The officer with the gun shook his head and walked over to Eddie. "To bad, Bert," he said to his pal. "This one will have to go in for repairs."

"Yeah," said Bert. "Something's wrong with the auditory circuit. Maybe the receiver is too sensitive."

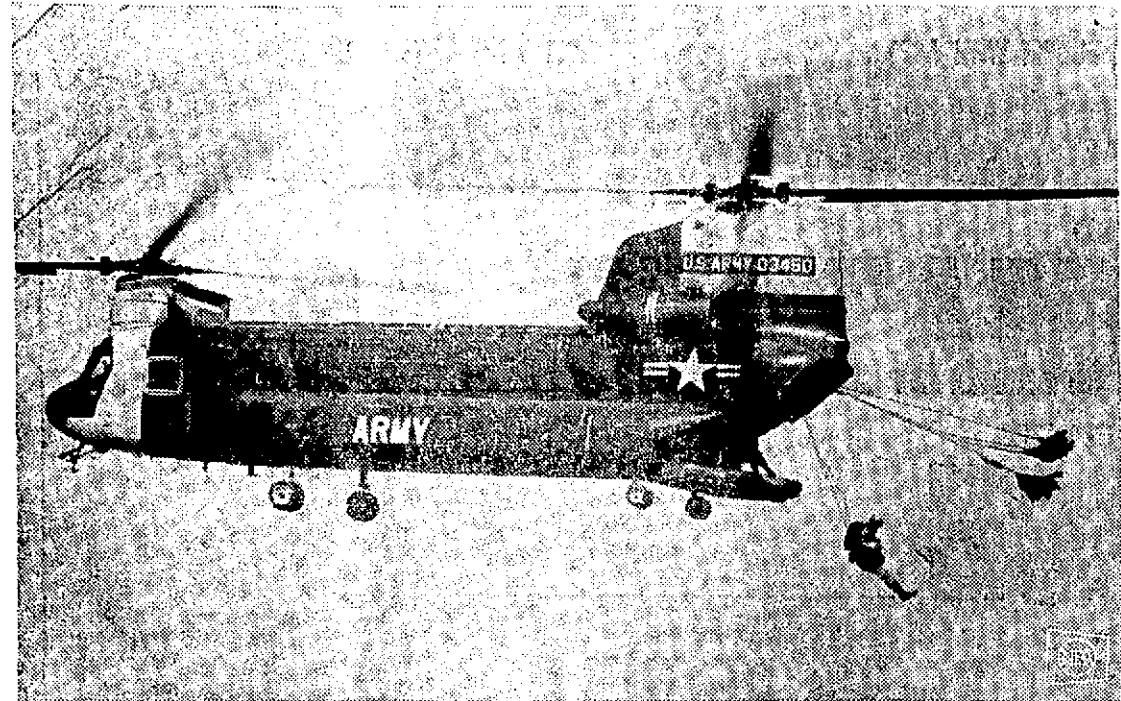

The other officer opened a little door in the back of Eddie's neck and turned a switch. "Yeah, but I hate to stop these things. It's such a chore to start them."

He laughed as he picked up Eddie, who was now quiet. The policeman carried the little man to the car.

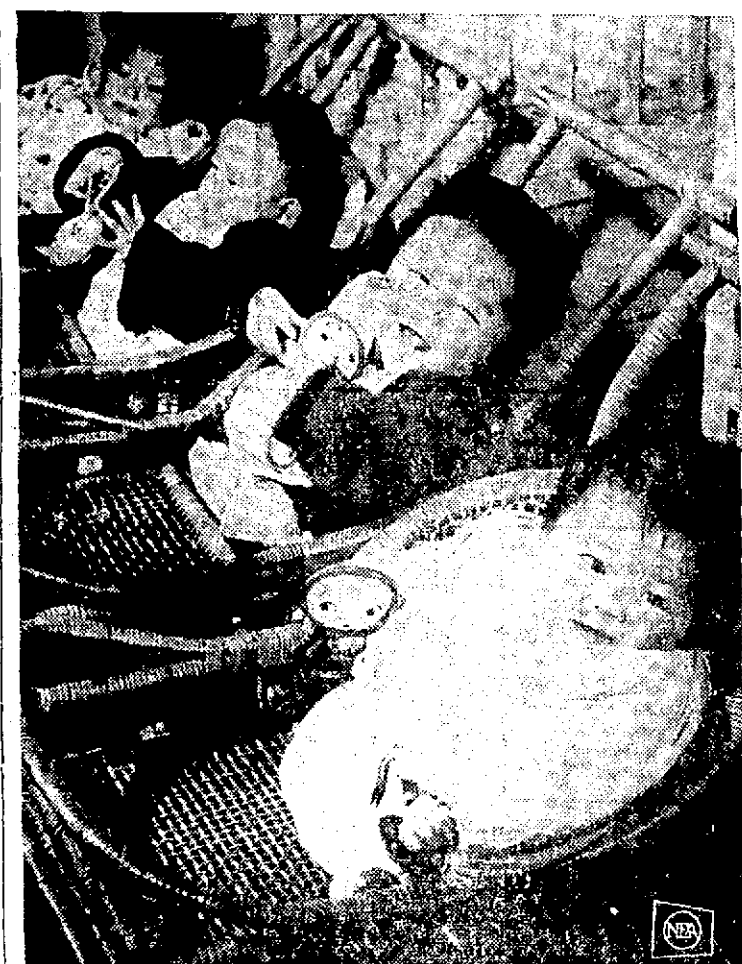

"What's so funny," said Bert.

Southerners Lash Out at the Kennedys

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern politicians have attacked President Kennedy's civil rights bill, now in Congress, from seven main directions.

But Mississippians particularly have personally attacked the President and his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Although the announced purpose of the bill is to guarantee Negroes equal treatment, the Southerners, all Democrats, have spent little time on Negroes' rights.

Here are the seven directions they've taken so far in statements at congressional committee hearings:

The Kennedys are trying to grab more power and have encouraged the Negroes' demonstrations; Communists must be mixed up in the Negroes' activities; and the bill is unconstitutional, is a shortcut to tyranny, is an invitation to violence, and would deprive all Americans of personal and property rights.

The most controversial part of the bill — the one which has brought the most strenuous Southern objections — involves public accommodations.

It would ban discrimination against Negroes in business places catering to the public, such as stores, restaurants, motels.

The personal attacks on the President and his brother came from three Mississippians — Gov. Ross Barnett, Atty. Gen. Joe T. Patterson and Sen. John F. Stennis — and from Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace.

Barnett accused the President of "sowing seeds of hate and violence," said his brother is personally responsible for "putting mobs in the street," and blamed both Kennedys for encouraging demonstrations, sit-ins and local law violations.

Patterson said Robert Kennedy has "demonstrated his immaturity, irresponsibility and fiendish delight" in wielding power and that the two Kennedys are "far

Power to Deal With 'Incidents'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Command in South Korea has adequate authority to deal with incidents involving attack on troops guarding the demilitarized zone, the Pentagon let it be known today.

Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense and spokesman for the department, was asked at a news conference if special instructions have been sent the U.S. Command in Korea, in view of two shootings in recent days.

He replied that he was not aware of any new instructions, then added: "The commander out there will take proper action, you may be sure."

The high command in South Korea is being changed, Gen. Guy S. Meley is retiring, to be succeeded on Aug. 1 by Gen. Hamilton H. Howze.

more responsible" for racial violence than the "ruthless leaders who are promoting racial unrest."

Stennis called the civil rights bill a "colossal grab for power by the attorney general."

Wallace accused the President of bringing the nation "to the brink of civil war" by what he termed an attempt to appease the leaders of the Negro civil rights demonstrations.

South Carolina Gov. Donald Russell denounced the bill as "con- servative legislation" which will

"breed resistance and perhaps violence."

Louisiana Rep. Joe D. Waggoner Jr. said the President has issued an "open invitation to mass violence" by warning that if Congress fails to enact his bill Negroes will seek a "remedy" in the streets.

Wallace, South Carolina Sen. Strom Thurmond and Arkansas Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett thought they saw Communist influence behind Negro demands for equal rights. None proved anything of the kind.

Sens. Sam J. Ervin Jr. of North Carolina and James O. Eastland of Mississippi, members of the Senate Judiciary Committee, hit the bill from another direction.

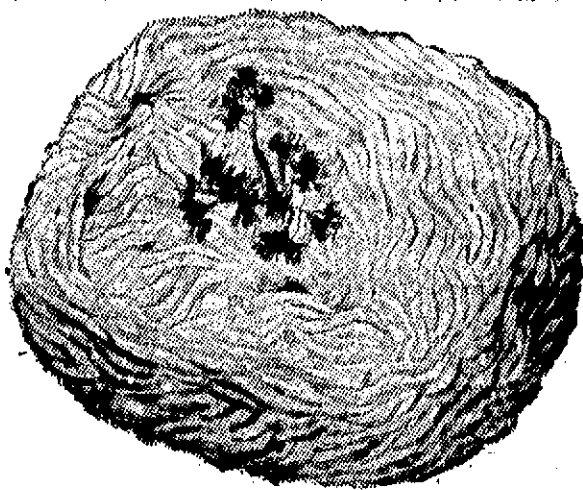

Ervin called it a "short-cut to government tyranny" and Eastland denounced it as a "complete blueprint for a totalitarian state."

Ervin, once a justice on the North Carolina Supreme Court, in civil rights fights in Congress over the years usually has chal- lenged the constitutionality of a bill. He challenged this one, too. He said it would deprive all Americans of personal and property rights.

Kennedy, anticipating this kind of argument when he sent his civil rights bill to Congress along with his message explaining it, said: "Abraham Lincoln, in issuing the Emancipation Proclamation 100 years ago, was also accused of violating the property rights of slave-owners. Indeed, there is an age-old saying that 'property has its duties as well as its rights.'"

Civil Rights Not on the Agenda

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today that if the Southern Governor Conference wants to take up the civil rights issue when it convenes Aug. 18, it will be all right with him, but he said civil rights is not on the agenda.

Faubus is chairman of the conference, which will meet at White Sulphur Springs, Va.

Faubus returned to his office today after attending the National Governors Conference last week in Miami, Fla., in which civil rights was an important issue.

He said in a news conference that he thought New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller was "trying to get back in the swim as a presidential nominee" and tried to use the conference as a springboard, but did not succeed.

Faubus said he has no one in mind as a replacement for Pat Mahaffy as state Democratic national committeeman and that the post will have to be filled by the party's central committee. Mahaffy has been named a federal judge.

He said he had no plans to call an election to fill the Senate post vacated by the death of Sen. Eli Fagan of Little Rock.

He said there probably will be no immediate need to fill the post unless a special legislative ses-

Farm Product Prices Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reported today that farm product prices increased 1.23 per cent between mid-June and mid-July.

This other sharp increase reflected higher prices for cattle, hogs and milk. Partially offsetting were lower prices for oranges and wheat.

The mid-July farm prices were 2 per cent above a year earlier.

This over-all price increase was accompanied by a further advance of 1.3 of one per cent in the level of prices paid by farmers for goods and service used in production and family living. These prices reached a new record high in mid-July.

Autopsy Called in Man's Death

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Tom Crane, 53, was found dead in the yard of his home at nearby London Sunday.

Pope County authorities said an autopsy would be made to determine cause of death.

The body was found by a neighbor shortly before noon.

Crane is called. The prospect of that is getting dimmer all the time, Faubus said.

In answer to a question Faubus said the State Police would never be used in Arkansas to integrate schools.

Buddhists Admonish U.S. Envoy

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Buddhist leaders here publicly admonished U.S. Ambassador Frederick E. Nolting Jr. today in a printed communique.

Buddhist criticism of Nolting was aimed at a statement attributed to the ambassador printed two days ago in the local English language newspaper.

Nolting was quoted as saying: "The trouble with this damn thing (the Buddhist dispute with the South Vietnamese government), if I may speak frankly, is that everybody focuses on a tiny aspect of it."

"I myself, I say this frankly after almost 24 years, have never seen any evidence of religious persecution."

The Buddhist statement said, in part:

"It is necessary to have lived in central Viet Nam, especially in the provinces of Quang Ngai, Phu Yen and Binh Dinh for the past five years, and to participate in the life of Buddhists to note the frequent cases of (government) persecution exercised under cover of legality."

Informally, a Buddhist spokesman described Nolting's statement as "the ambassador's parting gift to Ngo Dinh Diem."

Protests Firing of Poundmaster

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — William L. Conway, president of Branch 3745 of the National Association of Letter Carriers, has protested to the North Little Rock City Council the firing of the city poundmaster for enforcing too strictly the city's dog leash law.

Jeff Turner, the city poundmaster, was fired because the city council received complaints about his strict adherence to the provisions of the leash law.

"It has appeared to us that the law has been enforced fairly and we are fearful that any relaxation of the enforcement will lead to conditions which prevailed before the law was passed," Conway wrote.

To Vote on Court House Consolidation

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark. (AP) — Lawrence County voters will decide whether to consolidate the eastern and western districts of the county by constructing a $500,000 court house in a special election Aug. 26.

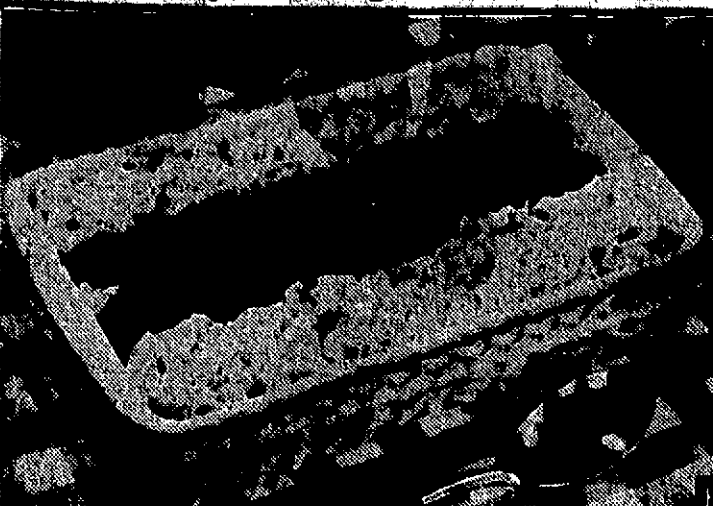

The court house would be built at Walnut Ridge.

Some 2,300 persons signed petitions circulated by the Lawrence County Development Council calling for the special election.

Court houses now are located at Walnut Ridge and Powhatan.

Salmon within several weeks, and will be succeeded by Henry Cabot Lodge Jr.

New and Easy Money-Saving Main Dish

Flavorful meat balls served with creamed noodles is a thrifty and taste-tantalizing main dish that's truly easy on the cook. Blended with evaporated milk, the ground beef mixture is easy to shape and meat balls retain a juicy moistness for fork-tender eating. While the meat balls are baking, the noodles can be prepared. Noodles cooked in evaporated milk and water until thickened is a new idea, but the resulting creamy fluffiness is so good that once tried this is sure to become a favorite cookery method.

BEEF BALLS WITH CREAMED NOODLES
1 pound ground beef
1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 egg
1 full cup evaporated milk (1 1/2 cups)

Place all ingredients except evaporated milk in a medium size mixing bowl. Measure 1/2 cup evaporated milk and add. (Reserve remaining evaporated milk for cooking noodles.) Mix ingredients thoroughly with a fork. Shape into 24 meat balls (about 1 tablespoon meat mixture for each). Place in a baking dish and bake in preheated moderate oven (350° F.) 25 minutes. Meanwhile, prepare creamed noodles. For serving, meat balls may be served with creamed noodles, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Creamed Noodles: In a bottle, bring 4 cups water and remaining evaporated milk (about 1 1/2 cups) to a boil slowly over low heat. Add 2 tablespoons salt, then stir in uncooked medium noodles (8 oz. package), and continue cooking, stirring occasionally, until noodles are tender and thickened, about 10 minutes.

Railroads' Offer Follows Board Finding

WASHINGTON (AP) — The railroads' current offer in the dispute over work rules follows the recommendations of a presidential fact-finding board rather than the more drastic changes the carriers first proposed, a spokesman said today.

The railroads already had agreed to those recommendations and the strike-threatening unions of on-train workers had turned them down.

The description of the new proposals was given to newsmen by J.E. Wolfe, the carriers' chief negotiator on the manpower-cutting plan, at the close of a House Commerce Committee hearing on President Kennedy's proposal to turn the dispute over to the Interstate Commerce Commission for judgment for the next two years.

In essence, the board plan would let the railroads lay off firemen with under 10 years' seniority, providing them with severance pay and retraining benefits.

Other firemen's positions would be eliminated as attrition left them vacant.

Wolfe said that plan was offered at the request of Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

The question of what to do about 32,500 firemen's positions the railroads argue are unnecessary on diesel locomotives is a key issue in the controversy.

In today's session, the House committee heard L.J. Wagner, president of the Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen, echo the testimony of other union leaders.

He opposed the Kennedy plan, endorsed a proposal by George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, for a congressional watchdog committee to supervise collective bargaining, and charged that the carriers have dragged their feet on negotiations.

The Senate Commerce Committee, holding companion hearings, planned to hear once again from each side in the dispute then wind up its proceedings.

Eisenhowers on Nostalgia Trip

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower set out with his wife Mamie, today aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth for "an adventure in nostalgia."

The five-star general, who directed the World War II Allied invasion of Europe, will view old scenes in England on France's Normandy beaches.

The former president said he was making the trip in connection with the filming of a Columbia Broadcasting System television documentary on the "D-Day" landings of June 6, 1944.

The Eisenhowers are scheduled to return to New York Aug. 15 aboard the liner United States.

In answer to a question, Eisenhower said he preferred not to comment on the partial nuclear test ban reached by the Soviet Union, Great Britain and the United States until military men and scientists have expressed their views.

Denies Morocco Seizes Territory

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — The Foreign Ministry today denied a report that Morocco has taken sovereignty over part of the Spanish enclave of Ifni.

A spokesman said an erroneous interpretation of an electoral plan apparently started the rumor after Sunday's municipal elections.

Buddists Are Demonstrating

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — President Ngo Dinh Diem's government made no attempt today to break up large crowds of Buddhists demonstrating against alleged religious persecution.

About 15,000 Buddhists staged a two-mile procession through the streets of the central city of Hue.

They carried portraits of the Rev. Quang Duc, the monk who burned himself to death in Saigon June 11 in the campaign for concessions from Diem, a Roman Catholic.

In Saigon, about 5,000 Buddhists massed in streets around the city's main pagoda with banners that said "religious persecution is an act of the Middle Ages People."

Unlike previous demonstrations, there was no violence, no barricades and, for the first time since tempers began flaring in the church-state dispute three months ago, combat police stayed away.

The Buddhists rallied in response to their priests' call for a nationwide strike and memorial services for the Rev. Quang Duc.

A general strike failed to materialize.

21 Jailed in Race Disorder

CHICAGO (AP) — Police arrested 21 persons Tuesday night as they dispersed about 1,000 white persons who milled around an apartment building into which a Negro family moved on Monday.

On Monday night, police had arrested 10 persons as they held back a crowd of about 500 from the building in a predominantly white neighborhood.

Police said of the 21 arrested, 14 men and one woman were charged with disorderly conduct.

About 45 policemen and a canine squad were sent into the area after the crowd began gathering early in the evening. Police ordered three streets closed to traffic.

The apartment building has 30 flats of which 13 are reported vacant.

A second Negro family moved into another apartment building about a block from the scene of the disturbance. However, no crowd appeared at the building.

er Sunday's municipal elections.

He said a plan has been drawn to divide Ifni in four election districts in the eventuality that the territory comes under Moroccan control.

Informal sources said that diplomatic talks are in progress with Spain over the future of the enclave.
